

Krystina Fisher-Brown

Krystina has a diverse background in architecture and office management. This combination of experience underpins her work at the URPS 'shop front'. Her design skills inform the way she composes documents and promotional materials, while her study in planning means that she understands the mechanics of the documents URPS creates, including brochures, posters, advertisements and invitations. Krystina's experience as a small business owner also means that she understands the importance of being accessible and responsive to clients. Proud of the professional interface she provides between URPS and our clients, Krystina plays a pivotal role in the successful operation of URPS.
